ChemicalInfo Travels to New Orleans for InformEX 2015

ChemicalInfo, is scheduled to attend InformEx 2015 in New Orleans, LA next Tuesday through Friday.

Dallas, TX: Chemical Information Services (CIS), providers of the most comprehensive online databases for chemical and pharmaceutical companies and those who do business with them, is scheduled to attend InformEx 2015 in New Orleans, LA next Tuesday through Friday.

InformEx, the only event of its kind offering a direct view of the global fine, specialty and custom chemical market, is an ideal fit for CIS and its audience of motivated buyers and sellers across the chemical and pharmaceutical industry. The Directory of World Producers (DWCP) and Contract Manufacturers (CM) are online tools designed to identify and qualify producers and contract/custom manufacturers of commodities, specialty chemicals and bulk pharmaceuticals alike. This exhibition provides a grand audience of motivated chemistry professionals looking for new partners and potential customers.

In conjunction with the exhibit, ChemicalInfo will introduce its Limited Access Membership, customized for InformEx 2015. Limited Access includes a 30-day membership to the full suite of CIS online services showcasing those companies exhibiting at InformEx. That's access to more than 250 InformEx exhibitors including their full product catalog, contact details, certification information, import/export data on their company and products and contract/custom manufacturing details.

“Unique product offerings like the Limited Access Membership for InformEx are exactly the type of thing our NextGen platform allows us to deliver to our members,” said ChemicalInfo CEO, Ernie Cote. “It's partnering with PIERS on import/export data and other vendors to satisfy the expanding needs and wants of our member base, that make our services invaluable and raise the bar for online tools in our industry. It's such an exciting time to attend this show and launch new additions.”

Attendees and exhibitors are encouraged to stop by Booth 1336 for a live demonstration and learn more about the Limited Access Membership for InformEX. Our National Sales Managers will be onsite for questions and concerns.
